THE LEADERS OF INDUSTRY FEAST AND TALK BUSINESS

Banquet of Manufacturing Potters and Their Associates
Last Night.

A MOST ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

A Superb Repast, Followed By a Number of Witty and Able Speeches.

ALL PHASES OF THE BUSINESS

Come in for Their Share of Discussion.
The Outlook Is Regarded as Most Promising in Every Respect—The Interesting Program in Detail.

The manufacturing potters of the west, at the Elks' Home last evening, discussed business and then feasted. The combined affair was a great success.

The rooms were tastily decorated with palms, ferns and potted plants, while every nook and corner of the spacious apartments gave evidence of careful and painstaking preparation.

The business session preceded the banquet. It was brief, there being no important questions to be disposed of.

The officers elected a few days ago by the Potters' exchange were seated. They are: President, Joseph G. Lee; secretary, W. E. Wells; treasurer, John W. Vodrey.

The attention of the membership was devoted principally to hearing reports of a number of standing committees and the appointment of others. The reports went to show that affairs in connection with both the Western Manufacturers' association and the Potters' exchange were all that could be desired.

An especial effort will be made to induce every manufacturing potter west of the Allegheny mountains to affiliate with the association, and with this end in view a committee consisting of Joseph G. Lee and Henry Kroblock was appointed to do some missionary work. They will begin at once.

On account of the meeting of the United States association being set for a date so near the meeting last night the attendance at the latter was affected to some extent, a great many of the manufacturers not being able to attend both.

Following the reception in the social rooms at the close of the business meeting, the members of the association, traveling representatives and guests to the number of 90, marched to the assembly room to the strains of music furnished by Nowling's orchestra, where all were seated at the banquet tables.

After a superb repast, Mr. Joseph G. Lee, chairman of the committee, introduced the toastmaster, Mr. W. E. Wells, who expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him. After paying his compliments to Mr. Lee for his efficient services as chairman and also as president of the association, he happily greeted the members and guests. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Wells referred to East Liverpool as being the center of the pottery interests of this country. He told of the duty devolving upon each member of the association and of the necessity of getting closely together and "putting a full and lasting kink in the lion's tail."

Mr. H. P. Knoblock, of the Dresden, made the first address, his subject being "The Point of View—From the Road and From the Office." He related his experiences, covering a period of 20 years, while serving in the capacity of a traveling salesman. He said he was the first man that ever carried a sample trunk out of East Liverpool and had sold ware in every state in the union and in Honolulu. Mr. Knoblock stated that he had endeavored to solve the problem of the unknown quantity—that of trying to control the business of this country.

"The foreign market is no longer a competitor," declared the speaker. "The trade is ours if we only put enthusiasm into this organization."

In concluding his remarks Mr. Knoblock appealed to all members to stand together and control the business of the United States.

Mr. George C. Murphy, of the East Liverpool Pottery company, responded to the toast "My Experience in Consolidation." He stated that all should be interested in this question.

When he entered the pottery business he expected his 20 years' experience in selling clothing would help him in selling ware. He followed with an interesting account of his experience with his first customer. He claimed all the potteries realize the direct benefits of consolidation and that undoubtedly the consolidation of all the pottery interests of this city is coming soon.

Mr. Louis I. Aaron, of Pittsburg, president of the Laughlin China company, responded to the "Bright Side." He spoke of his limited acquaintance in this city, and how he became interested in the pottery business. He told of the benefits of uniform price lists and of the benefits accruing to all. Not cheap goods but excellent ware is demanded to meet competition. The speaker referred to certain paragraphs in President Roosevelt's message. His address was lengthy.

Next after Mr. Aaron came Mr. John J. Purinton, who responded to "The Outlook." He spoke of his experience in the pottery business, covering 21 years. He said that the present was a good time to look back and profit by former mistakes. "The wage question is always to be considered for the future," he said. "When we ascribe the right to ourselves to organize we must concede it to the wage earner. We will have to deal not as individuals but as one organization. The question of the tariff is not to be feared. We have a friend in President Roosevelt. There will be no tariff tinkering. In connection with the tariff is reciprocity which means simply free trade. It behooves us to be ready to meet that question when it does come up. Prospects for the future are bright. English competition is forced to one side the same as in the iron industry."

Mr. Purinton spoke of the foreign fields and in conclusion stated that this is an age of expansion, declaring that the manufacturers must stick to prices. The prices of all other goods have increased but pottery prices are the same as during the last panic.

B. M. Louthan, of the Louthan Supply company, responded to the topic, "A Retrospective View of the Industry." He spoke of his connection with the business and the bright prospects for the future. "We are setting the pace for decorations and shapes for the entire United States. If any one thinks the business is not here to stay he need only to look around and see the convincing proof in the rapid increase in the new potteries here and in other cities in the country. They are springing up everywhere."

Will A. Rhodes, the veteran salesman of the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles company, responded to the topic, "Dusty Roads."

He spoke of the experience of traveling man; how the goods were first marketed in East Liverpool, shipped down the river, then sold by wagons. The growth of the industry necessitated the traveling man. Mr. Rhodes recounted his first experience in selling goods at New Castle. The traveling men of East Liverpool have had as much to do with the growth of the industry as anything else.

He touched upon the practical part of the business. Only a few years ago five English firms controlled the trade, but today their plants are only running two-thirds of the time. They are only busy on special lines of decorations that we can not compete with under present conditions. "Canada, with a tariff against us, is buying East Liverpool goods and most of the foreign countries are buying here."

The address was full of reminiscences and well told stories.

Toastmaster W. E. Wells was the last speaker, and made a brief but pleasing and appropriate address.

SUIT IS ON FILE IN SUPREME COURT

Action Brought By the Dresden Pottery Against the Street Railway.

ELEVATORS IN POTTERIES

A Source of Perplexity to the State Department of Factories—Questions at Bar Examination Offered for Sale—Capital Notes.

Columbus, December 5.—(Special)—The petition in error in the case of the Potters' Cooperative company, of East Liverpool, against the East Liverpool Street Railway company, of that city, has reached the supreme court and the action has been regularly entered upon the clerk's docket. The papers in the case were received a week ago, but did not include the petition in error through an oversight upon the part of Judge P. M. Smith, of Wellsville, attorney for the pottery company. The petition in a general way alleges that the lower courts erred in deciding for the defendant in error.

The pottery company seeks to restrain the railway company from extending its tracks past its plant. Brookes & Thompson, as the legal representatives of the street railway company, waive issuance and summons in the case.

The state department of factories and workshops has not determined what steps to take with reference to alleged unsafe elevators in the East Liverpool potteries. The danger is not due to faulty construction of the elevators, but is on account of there being no device overhead which would give warning upon approaching upper floors. This danger is not in the descent. The department is at loss to know what recommendations to make to obviate the danger, and will take no action until the report of Deputy Inspector Hull on the matter is received.

Aaron Esterly, of Columbiana; Charles McGregor, of Wellsville, and Harry Burgess, of East Liverpool, were members of the class which took the state bar examination at the state capital on Tuesday and Wednesday. The questions submitted were not printed until Tuesday morning to prevent them from getting out in advance. The questions were secured and offered for sale just previous to the time for the preceding examination.

Bert Bottenberg, who left East Liverpool three years ago to locate in California, and who was reported dead several months ago, yesterday turned up in Columbus. He has been roving about the country, but expects to locate in this city.

Benjamin Ede, aged 16, was caught in a shaft in the Bell pottery at Findlay one day this week and severely injured. His clothes were torn off and his leg broken.

GIRLS IN JAIL

Three From East Liverpool Run in By a Wellsville Officer.

Three East Liverpool girls, all said to be minors, are in Wellsville jail. They were in Walters' saloon, near the Metropole, today, and when Officer Thorne told them they had no business there, they argued with him until he told them he would arrest them. Then they ran. He caught them after a chase. Their names are not known.

DIED OF SMALLPOX

Former Resident of Wellsville a Victim of the Dread Disease.

W. D. Pacey, aged 60, died last night in Pittsburg, of smallpox. He was formerly a resident of Wellsville, where his sons, William and Samuel, and his daughter, Mrs. George McLean, reside. The funeral was held today.

Completing the Sewer.

The railroad company has finished its part of the sewer outlet at the depot and Irwin Bros., of Greenville, commenced yesterday to lay the sewer and finish the contract for the city. When this is finished they will start on the West End sewer, near the U. S. pottery.

TRADES COUNCIL FIRST TO DONATE

To the Fund For the Erection of a Monument to Late President McKinley.

MANY COMMUNICATIONS

From Sister Unions Throughout the Country Asking Moral And Financial Support in Strikes And Lock-outs—School Book.

The meeting of Trades Council last night was not as well attended as usual, but the interest was none the less marked.

J. F. Sult, No. 318, typographical; John Gilson, No. 17, kilndrawers; Oscar Muellndner and John McBauer of the brewery workers, were the new delegates seated.

Secretary Smith had a large number of communications, the most important being one from the metal and wood workers employed in the Brown works at Zanesville. They were seeking an increase in wages. Several of the trades employed at the works had been granted the increase, and had remained at work until they were called upon to handle the product of non-unionists. Then they too went out. The communication asked that the firm be placed on the unfair list. The request was complied with.

A communication from the National McKinley Memorial association asked a donation from the council, and $10 was voted to the association.

The National Brewery Workers' association, with headquarters at St. Louis, requested the appointment of a committee to make a canvass of the retail houses of the city, looking to their handling non but label goods. The committee consists of T. O. Terrence, Henry Moore and John McBauer.

The legislative committee, consisting of U. G. King, C. C. Smith and William Cope, reported progress on the agitation for free school books. They hoped by the next meeting to have a full report.

The representatives from the bakers' union made a request that the seat of Harry Dascomb be held vacant until next February. The gentleman goes to England shortly, where he will be married.

It was determined by the council to revive the boycott on the Radiant Home Stove, which continues to be sold in this city. The movement will be pushed vigorously.

DIVORCES GRANTED

TO WRONGED WIVES FROM ER-RING HUSBANDS.

East Liverpool And Wellsville Couples Find Marriage Failure.

Caroline Caton, of East Liverpool, has been granted a divorce from James Caton and given the custody of the two children, now at the home of his mother. The couple were married at Steubenville in 1896. Caton has been employed, first as a barber and lately as a bartender, but Mrs. Caton, who is a slight woman, had to take in washing and do housework to support her children. August 11 at 4:30 a. m. Caton drove her out of the house and down an alley to the home of a neighbor named Zink.

Mrs. Heyser, of Wellsville, has been granted a divorce from William Heyser. They were married in 1888 and lived with Mrs. Heyser's father. Heyser made good wages as a C. & P. fireman, but his wife charges that he never supported her. When repeatedly asked to do so, he deserted her and she has had no word from him. He was last heard of seven years ago in Cincinnati.

Lisbon, December 5.—(Special)—Anna C. Shelar, of Salem, has sued George Shelar for divorce. She alleges that her husband has failed to contribute to the support of herself and child; that he has been absent three years and his present whereabouts are unknown.

ence; Rev. Dr. Swift, a former pastor here, and others, was quashed by Judge Umbel, at Uniontown, Pa., yesterday and the ministers discharged from further attendance.

The case did not come up for trial at all, as erroneously stated in Pittsburg papers. Rev. Mr. Gladden is being congratulated today by his many friends here.

FARMER ROBBED

FEMALE "TOUCHED" THE GRAN-GER IN A LOCAL SALOON.

Victim Told His Troubles to the Mayor, But Could Not Produce Any Evidence.

Mayor Davidson had a somewhat unusual case to deal with this morning. It was another saloon robbery.

A farmer named Joseph Gillespie from Black Hawk, Pa., told the mayor he had been robbed of $10 in the "White Cloud" by a boy named McCuen, who accompanied him here. Chief Thompson found the boy and took him before the mayor. He strenuously denied his guilt. George Brown was with Gillespie, but neither of them were willing to swear that young McCuen took the money.

Brown at first claimed that McCuen had taken the money and that he had later given $7 of it to a woman in the saloon. After being closely questioned Brown admitted that it was possible the woman had slipped the money out of Gillespie's pockets, as he was drunk. Neither of the men knew who the female was, and nothing further could be done.

Chief Thompson is trying to learn her identity. Several robberies of this kind have taken place about the city, and the officers are going to break up the bad gangs.

A SLEDGE-HAMMER BLOW

Crushed an Italian's Skull And Knocked Out One of

His head was crushed and an eye knocked out. The man was taken to the Steubenville hospital.

Plant Runs Remarkably Smoothly And Its General Manager Takes Pride
in Its Workings—Pay Roll, Full Turn, Will Exceed $35,000 a Month.

The Chester mill of the American Tin Plate company started yesterday morning. All day and throughout the livelong night the immense rolls were in motion, for the plant is to be operated without reference to dawn or twilight.

General Manager Banfield was an interested observer and critic of the first day's output—or rather the first turns, as there are to be no days at the mill. Three shifts of men at 8-hour turns get in a full 24-hour day.

The immense 1,500 horse-power engine was ready at 4 a. m. Wednesday morning, and the throttle was opened, but it was not until 6 a. m. that the initiatory force of men, who were in their places, commenced to draw the red packs from the fiery furnaces, which packs were to be shoved between massive hot rolls and drawn into sheets of steel much thinner than they were in the first place.

A News Review reporter was courteously shown through the big plant yesterday, and found it a wonderfully interesting place.

The process at the mill is an entirely new one in the matter of producing plates, and the product was subjected to the keenest scrutiny by the general manager and the superintendent. It is a variation of the modern Monessen plan of the production of plates, but believed to be superior and simpler, including not only the making of better plates but easier on the men in respect to an equitable division of labor.

One set of hot rolls to the mill was the old plan, while the Monessen is four sets to two mills. The Chester plan is three sets to two mills.

These matters are of technical importance to the management. Mr. Banfield said:

"There are many new things in this plant and its processes in which we have been concerned, but the test of this forenoon gave proof to our ideal. It is simply wonderful how nicely everything has gone on. That engine has not stopped since it started at 6 o'clock this morning. The men are new to each other in the shifts, but on the first turn they got out more than an average amount of plates, which is 50 boxes to the mill, for eight hours. You can say that we are getting on splendidly."

He was delighted and looked on brightly and approvingly as the men with their heavy tongs grappled the red steel, ran it through the series of heavy machines, doubled the plates at the heavy shears and left them in readiness for the pickling, annealing, cold rolling and tinning.

For the present the plates will be finished in Irondale, and no tinning will be done at Chester until about the middle of February. This is necessary, for thereason that the pickling and tinning buildings to the west of the main structure, have not yet been completed. When they are done the finished plates will be turned out from the Chester mill.

When a plate comes from the hot rolls it is pickled—that is, given a five-minute bath in a solution of sulphuric acid to cleanse it from the oxide of iron. It is then annealed, cold rolled, re-annealed and tinned.

The weight of an ordinary standard pack from which a single plate is made is 17 3/4 pounds. A pack is 20 1/2 inches long by 8 inches in width and three-thirtieths of an inch in thickness.

Men put the raw steel into the fiery reducers. The metal is kept in motion from the rear to the front of the reducers, where it is snatched by men with long tongs and fed into the rolls. As above mentioned, by the new Chester plan, this metal is passed through three of the rolls before being permitted to be drawn to the proper thickness.

When drawn out, the sheets, as ready for the first annealing, are 20x38 inches. One hundred and fifty boxes are the output of a single mill in a day, each box giving 112 sheets, 14x20 inches.

When in full operation, after the first of the year, eight mills will be busy on this size of product and an extra mill will be producing plates that will run as big as 40x96 inches. It will be the only plant in the world making plates of that dimension. They are to be made especially for the dairying interests of the country.

Three mills are at present in operation. More bars are expected this week and on Monday an additional mill will be started, when 80 more men will be employed. January 1 three more mills will be in operation, when the ninth one which is to make the largest tin plates in the world.

Ninety men were at work yesterday morning in the manufacture of steel plates. Mr. Banfield said that, after January 1, 700 men would be employed and, with the commencement of the tinning, a hundred or more women and girls.

The general manager was asked as to the moving of the corrugated metal works of Canal Dover to Chester, and he said that in the immediate future a portion of the work of that plant would be done in Chester, especially the finishing and the manufacture of metal roofing.

He stated that much concentration of the American Tin Plate company was being put on the plant at Chester. It was to be twice as large as was at first intended. The space covered by the buildings, none of which would be too large, was double the first plan, as was also that of the capacity of the mills and general machinery.

The Chester mill is evidently General Manager Banfield's pride. He anticipates it to be a center of the manufacturing tin industry of the world, and, with its modern appliances and processes, does not feel that he is presuming upon its future greatness.

A plan of the building for the corrugated metal works calls for a building 70 feet in width by 150 feet in length. This building is to be located at the west of the tin mill buildings instead of on the east side as has been announced in this paper, the new consolidation having been mentioned exclusively by the News Review during the past three weeks.

Mr. Banfield was asked what the pay roll of the mill would be. He said that, beginning with the first of the year, it would be about $35,000 per month.

With the additions it will run considerably more. There will be over 100 women employed and the same addition of male operatives when the metal works finishing is commenced. About 1,000 employees will be working during the first year of the plant. This means something over a half million a year to be paid out for operative labor at the tin mill plant in Chester in a single year.

When questioned as to the wage scale, Mr. Banfield said that, as a matter of course, the employees were rated as skilled or, at least, semi-skilled men; the wages paid will be from $2.50 to $10 per day. The men on the rolls are the best paid employees and receive from $8 to $10 per turn of eight hours. There is nothing cheap about the establishment.

In addition to the foregoing enumeration, from two to three hundred men will be busy in new construction about the establishment for perhaps a year.

No happier lot of men existed today than the men who have builded their hopes on the future welfare of Chester with the firing of the furnaces in the tin mill and the big trust's determination to make it one of the biggest plants of the kind if not the largest in the world.

The industry will of absolute necessity force an additional population on Chester during the year of from 4,000 to 5,000. With other enterprises in tow, this influx cannot help but be augmented. The whole matter is easily explained and that is that this district, centering about East Liverpool, with exceptional advantages in the Pittsburgh industrial territory, has attained a precedence in which state lines or any other political demarcations make no difference in the actual business development.

East Liverpool citizens may welcome the studding of a beautiful city on the southside of the Ohio as well as on the north bank. The available ground is to be built up in one great urban community as the goddess of progress marches on.

THE SPORTING WORLD

Sharkey Posts Forfeit to Fight Jeffries—Dave Sullivan After Young Corbett.

BASEBALL MEN ACTIVE

Brooklyn's National League Team to Suffer Loss of Two of Its Best Players—Other Notes of Interest to the Sporting Fraternity.

Tom Sharkey, the sailor-pugilist, and his little protegee, Dave Sullivan, are hot on the track of championship laurels—the former after the scalp of Champion Jim Jeffries and the latter after McGovern's conqueror, Young Corbett.

Sharkey has posted $5,000 in cash. Half of this amount he placed as a forfeit, on his own behalf to meet Jeffries and the other half to bind a contest between Sullivan and Young Corbett.

"Our money is up," said the ex-sailor, "and that's half the preliminary battle, provided Jeffries and Young Corbett cover it. I am going to exert all my efforts to make Jeffries come to my terms. He is champion, and therefore is entitled to first say. He can name the date, place and terms, and can have the better of the deal all the way through, if he'll only meet me."

"As manager of Sullivan I can only say he is entitled to first whack at Young Corbett. He is without doubt the cleverest feather weight in the world, and as Corbett promised him a match in the event of McGovern's defeat, he is justly entitled to it."

"I think the terms I have laid down to Jeffries on my own behalf and to Corbett as manager of Sullivan, are fair. Our money is up, and if they wish to meet up let them cover our money."

Jeffries promised Sharkey a fight some time ago, but has not been heard from lately. Young Corbett will make his announcement Saturday as to whom and when he will fight. He has agreed to give McGovern another go.

McGovern announces that in the event of Young Corbett refusing to meet him again in the ring he will begin at the bottom of the ladder again and fight any feather weight that signifies a desire to cross arms with him. McGovern has also given out the statement that he will quit the stage in order to prepare himself properly for future fights.

Tommy Feltz, who has been touring the country claiming the bantam weight championship, was unmercifully beaten in Baltimore by an unknown named Joe Tipman.

Another staggering blow, it is claimed, will be dealt the National League in a few days by its rival, the American. This time it is the Brooklyn club to suffer. John J. McGraw, the hustling little manager of the Baltimore club, who has apparently been laying idle since the season closed, while his partners were securing National League material, will play the trump card which will land Joe Kelly and Billy Keeler, the two foremost stars of the Brooklyn aggregation, with the Baltimore club. Kelly will not only be a member of the team but, it is said, will be a part owner of the team.

James J. Corbett startled the sporting fraternity at Indianapolis a few nights ago by announcing his intention of re-entering the ring. It is said he proposes to challenge Champion Jeffries.

On a Business Basis.
Gerald developed a journalistic instinct at the early age of 14. With the consent of his father and some assistance from the same source he bought an "amateur printing outfit" and started the Elmhurst Monthly Journal, subscription price 25 cents a year, payable in advance.

"I suppose you call yourself the editor and proprietor of this office," remarked an envious young associate who dropped in at his "sanctum" in the basement of the paternal dwelling one day.

"Of course I do," responded the youthful journalist. "I don't owe a cent on it."

"Proprietor! Humph! Everybody knows you got $25 from your father to start it with."

"Yes, sir," stoutly rejoined Gerald, "and his subscription for The Journal is marked paid 100 years ahead on my books!"—Youth's Companion.

IRONDALE

Irondale, December 5.—Misses Margaret and Bertha Hart spent Thanksgiving with their parents near Inverness.

The Ladies' Aid society of Chestnut Grove M. E. church held a supper at the home of Commissioner Kerr, which was well attended.

Miss Kate Thomas entertained her friend, Miss Dunn, of Linton.

Attorney Jay S. Paisley, of Steubenville, has been spending a few days at the home of his father.

Charles G. Reed, of Irwin, Pa., was a visitor with his family here.

Work has been delayed at the East Ohio sewer pipe works by scarcity of hands. The managers are unable to secure a sufficient number of stone-masons.

The tin plate works, which were shut down on Monday while undergoing repairs, resumed operations Tuesday morning.

D. J. Edwards, of Avonmore, Pa., spent Sunday with friends. He was a former resident here.

S. E. Lawson, who is attending Mt. Union college, came home for Thanksgiving, returning to his studies on Monday.

James L. Gilson was an over Sunday visitor with his brother Richard, of Portland station.

Miss Ruth Bevington spent a part of last week at the home of Commissioner Kerr, in Brush Creek township.

Howell Williams, Jr., of Elwood City, Pa., is spending a few days with parents here.

Miss Canstie Caught.

The wit is more to be dreaded than your worst enemy. Witty people have a way of slapping a title on you which sticks for life. These things bubble up on their lips, and woe to the victim. He or she is ruined and made a public laughing stock. Even your best friend will giggle on the sly. One society girl here, a really nice girl, has the habit, however, of sitting in judgment on the family standing of other people. She will make some disparaging remark and conclude with, "Oh, well, you know and I know they are really not to the manner born."

Now this girl does not come of aristocratic blood on her maternal side. Her ancestors were simple, honest tradesmen who never pretended to style or had any ambition to pose as aristocrats. They were in the shoe business. One day the girl was talking much as usual. The wit, alas, was on deck loaded with back number facts. "Oh," said Miss Critic, with a toss of her head, as she mentioned a debutante, "of course she is not to the manner born. I always like to express myself in quotations."

"So do I," said the wit softly and wickedly. "My favorite is 'let not the shoemaker go beyond his last.'"—Louisville Times.

How He Cured the Bell.

The late Father Boyle, who for years was one of the most prominent and popular Catholic priests in Washington, had a great reputation as a wit. Some of his most intimate friends were Protestants and members of the Protestant clergy. A few months before his death he erected a missionary chapel down by the navy yard and bought at a junkshop an old bell which had been discarded by one of the Protestant churches. He sent the bell to a foundry in Georgetown and had several inches of metal pared off the rim. Having thus got rid of a crack, the harsh and discordant tones of the bell became soft and sweet. Meeting a Presbyterian minister not long after, Father Boyle called his attention to the change, and the latter could scarcely believe it was the same bell.

"What in the world did you do to that bell," inquired the Presbyterian pastor, "to cause such a change in the tone?"

"We blessed it and blessed it and blessed it until we got the Presbyterian devil out of it," retorted Father Boyle, "and then it sounded all right."—Washington Star.

Talk Killed a Bear.

"I suppose," said the barber to the man who was wearing a bear's claw on his watch chain—"I suppose you killed that bear yourself?"

"Yes, I did," was the reply.

"Was it a grizzly bear?"

"It was."

"A big one?"

"About the size of a 2-year-old steer."

"Gee whiz! How many bullets did it take to kill him?"

"Not any at all."

"Brain him with an ax?"

"No; I talked him to death!"

It took the customer 15 minutes to get the rest of his shave, and during that time the barber didn't speak another word.—Exchange.

Two Narrow Irish Escapes.

An Irishman, seeing a vessel very heavily laden and scarcely above the water's edge, exclaimed, "Upon my soul, if the river was but a little higher the ship would go to the bottom!"

"See there!" exclaimed the returned Irish soldier to the gaping crowd as he exhibited with some pride his tall hat with a bullet hole in it. "Look at that hole, will you? Ye see, if it had been a low crowned hat I should have been killed outright."

The climate of northern Ontario is not unlike that of northern Europe, and its soil is equal to that of many thickly peopled portions of the old world.

EAST END

A CAMP OF HOBOES

Wandering Willies Steer Clear of Places Where Work Abounds.

A group of hoboes have a camp in the ravine west of Mulberry street, along the railroad track. They have been there for two days, apparently enjoying life in the open air. With a crude cooking outfit of tin cans and rusty metal, they cook their own meals.

The sewer pipe works often afford a good place for the wandering gentry. Men shy on cooking utensils, while tarrying on their journey through East Liverpool, have made use of the hot kilns to boil their coffee; but there is a good deal of employment to be obtained in that quarter of the town at present and the sons of rest are giving it a wide berth.

Ben Hur Tribe.

The East End tribe of Ben Hur held an interesting session Monday night and initiated several candidates. December 16 they will have an election of officers.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

G. D. McKinnon returned this morning from Marion, O.

George W. Goddard is very sick at his home on Pennsylvania avenue.

Miss Sarah Densmore is convalescing at her home on St. George street.

J. Harvey Martin is ill with the grip at his home in Andrews addition.

Mrs. G. D. McKinnon is improving from illness at her home on Railroad avenue.

Calvin White leaves Saturday for Chicago, where he has a job in a machine shop.

The Pennsylvania company is having the fences renewed along the track west of Mulberry street.

Advice as to Roasting a Turkey.

"Ninety-nine women out of every hundred, ninety-nine cooks out of every hundred, will bake a turkey with the back to the pan," said a New Orleans man who keeps in touch with the kitchen, "and this is a mistake. A famous French cook I know never thinks of baking a turkey with the breast up. The breast is turned to the bottom of the pan and instead of being dry and tasteless when it is served is richly flavored and as sweet and juicy as one would care to have it. You see, all the fine flavoring of the turkey, the juices of the dressing and all the daintier touches flow down toward the breast of the fowl, and when the white meat is served you get the full benefit of every flavor added during the processes of preparing and baking the turkey, in addition to the distinctive taste of the fowl itself."

"Inconvenient and awkward! Not at all. It is just as easy to cook a turkey in this way as in any other way, and the result is infinitely more satisfactory. It is no trouble to arrange the fowl in the pan. If you desire to place the fowl on the table before carving it, you will find that it will look quite as well as it would if baked in the usual way, and certainly it will taste much better than it would if you baked the breast until it was dry and flavorless."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Snails Are Queer Creatures.

The snail is found everywhere, 3,332 species being known, serving in France as an important item of diet and in this country an attractive inhabitant of the fernery. Some of the large tropical snails, as bullsnails, form nests of leaves, their eggs being as large as a pigeon's.

The snail is extremely skillful in mending its shell, and some curious experiments may be tried with them. Thus I have seen a helix of a yellow species attached to another shell of a reddish hue by cutting off the top whorl of the latter, when the snail will proceed to weld the two shells together and occupy both, using the addition as a door and possibly wondering at this sudden extension of its house.

In the winter some of the snails hibernate or lie dormant until warm weather, just as the snakes do in California. A snail of the Philippine Islands has a faculty of throwing off its tail when seized. This is also true of a West Indian variety—stenophus.

A Household Sandbag.

A sandbag is a very useful thing to have in the house. Dry the sand thoroughly in the oven and then make a flannel bag about eight inches square. Fill it with the sand, sew up the opening carefully and cover the bag with cotton or linen. This will prevent the sand from sifting out and will allow of the bag being quickly heated when required by placing it in the oven. Sand holds heat a long time and is softer to the feet of an invalid than the ordinary hot water bottle.

FINE CASH SURPLUS

Gage's Report Shows Excess
of $77,717,984.38, In Receipts
Over Expenditures.

RESERVE FUND KEPT INTACT

The Secretary Points Out the Pressing Need of American Ships to Carry Our Surplus Products to the Markets of the World.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The report of Secretary Gage was submitted to congress. It contained, in part, the following:

It shows the total receipts of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, were $699,316,530.92,
and the expenditures $621,598,546.54,
showing a surplus of $77,717,984.38.
Compared with 1900 the receipts show an increase of $29,721,099.74 and the expenditures an increase of $22,253, 561.44.

The revenues for the current fiscal year are estimated at $688,633,042 and the expenditures at $588,633,042, showing a surplus of $100,000,000.

Most Gold Ever Held In Treasury.

Of the operations of the treasury
the secretary says: "The reserve fund and the trust fund have been maintained. The redemption of United States notes have been each day adjusted by exchange for gold, so that the full sum of $150,000,000 has been kept unchanged in coin and bullion."
"Upon the withdrawal of treasury notes as the bullion of 1890 was coined into standard dollars, silver certificates under the act of March 14, 1900,
were substituted to the extent of $10, 748,000 to July 1, 1900, and $28,244,000
additional to July 1, 1901. B. Nov. 1, 1901, the total exchange reached $45, 336,000. The gold certificates upon deposit of the metal were increased
during the fiscal year by $45,160,270,
and in the first quarter of 1902 $31, 801,430 additional. The gross gold in the treasury, including the reserve and the trust fund against certificates, received an addition of $71, 270,325.74 during the year, and a further addition of $34,304,225.50 by October 1, while $13,697,327 more in October brought the aggregate by Nov. 1 to $542,831,849. This sum in gold was never before equaled in our annals, and only for a few months
some years ago has any other government ever held so much of that precious metal.

Growing Use of Gold.

"In the bonds held by the treasurer
for the circulation of national banks,
an increase is shown for the fiscal year of $41,741,190, and for the first quarter of 1902 of the further amount of $4,573,950. As security for public deposits, the bonds held amounted to $1,488,130 less at the close of the fiscal year than at its beginning, and an addition of $2,444,300 took place in the first quarter of 1902.

"While the circulation per capita was $26.50 on July 1, 1900, and $28.52
on Oct. 1, 1901, gold certificates more and more entered into the field of large denominations, and were used almost exclusively in the payment of customs duties and in the settlements
at the clearing house in New York.
The United States notes are undergoing a change into the denomination of $10, as larger ones are redeemed, while the silver certificates are taking the place of $1, $2 and $5
notes.

"Two features are marked in the currency—first, the growing use of gold, and, second, the constant addition to the small denominations of paper. The gold, including certificates, in circulation, which was 33.5 per cent of the total circulation on July 1, 1897, was 39.5 per cent on July 1, 1900, 40.2 per cent on July 1, 1901, and 49.8 per cent on Oct. 1, 1901. The average denomination of notes and certificates issued by the treasury,
which was $6.34 in the year 1900, fell to $4.46 in 1901.

"The available cash balance Nov.
15 was $171,017,610.89.

Redemption of Bank Notes.

The redemption of national bank
notes shows an increase of $50,503,570
during the year, while the average amount of such notes outstanding increased $79,590,511. The total amount redeemed was greater than in any year since 1879 save one. The rate of expense for each $1,000 in notes assorted was 99.56 cents, of which 37.81 cents was for transportation. The rate has never been so low before, as the lowest previous figure was $1.07 in 1897 and the highest,
$2.69 in 1881.

On July 1, 1901, there were in operation 4,178 national banking associations, with capital stock of $647, 666,665.

During the year 411 banks, with aggregate capital of $20,517,090, were organized; 37, with capital of $9,970,- 000, placed in voluntary liquidation,
and 12, with capital of $1,869,000,
placed in charge of receivers. Subsequent to the close of the year one of the 12 associations was placed in a solvent condition and permitted to resume. The authorized stock of the banks in existence on June 30, 1900, was $627,503,095. In addition to the capital of banks organized during the year, old associations increased their stock to the extent of $12,921,800. The national bank capital stock account was reduced during the year to the extent of $13,275,200, of which $2,780,- 200 represented reduction of the stock

Three Minutes to Mars By Wireless Telegraphy

By SIR ROBERT S. BALL, Famous British Astronomer

IF A FLAG COULD BE MADE 300 MILES LONG AND 200 MILES WIDE AND WAVED FROM A POLE 500 MILES HIGH, THE INHABITANTS OF MARS WOULD BE ABLE TO SEE ENOUGH TO KNOW THAT WE WERE TRYING TO DO SOMETHING.

It has been suggested that the Marconi sys- tem of wireless telegra- phy might be used to travel at the rate of the earth in a second. take nearly three min- utes to reach Mars when it is to the earth.

of existing banks and $10,495,000 the closing of capital stock accounts of banks in voluntary liquidation and in charge of receivers. These changes resulted in a net increase during the year of 362 banks and $20,163,600 capital stock. During the year bonds on deposit to secure circulating notes in- creased in the sum of $41,832,190, and circulation secured by bonds in the sum of $49,775,131.

The report shows that the amount of bonds purchased from July 1 to Nov 15 was $33,114,420, and the foreign commerce in merchandise for 1901 showed a decrease of $20,769,019 in imports and an increase of $93,251,909 in exports when compared with the preceding year.

The exports of silver in 1901 also exceeded the imports by $27,585,559, and in four years by $29,176,089, thus making the excess of exports over imports of merchandise and silver in the four years $2,453,618,302. Against this, the importation of gold in excess of exports in 1901 was but $12,366,010, and in the four years $165,399,295.

The record of exports of manufac- tures in 1901 showed a slight decrease, amounting to $21,696,599 when com- pared with 1900, but an increase of $12,562,920 over 1899, and exceeded the imports of manufactures in 1901 by $39,026,166.

The commerce with the territory which has been recently brought un- der the American flag shows a grati- fying growth. The exports to the Philippine islands were $4,027,094 in 1901, against $2,640,449 in 1900, and $404,193 in 1899; to Porto Rico, $9, 965,498 in 1901, against $4,640,449 in 1900, and $2,656,848 in 1899.

The annual report of the commis- sioner general of immigration for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1901, shows that the total arrivals of aliens aggre- gated 562,265. Of that number, 437, 918 were steerage and 124,347 first and second cabin passengers. The for- mer, as compared with the same class of arrivals during the preceding year, shows an increase of 39,346, about 7 per cent, 2,929 of whom came via Canadian ports and 37,929 were land- ed at ports of this country.

Need of Merchant Marine.

On the subject of a merchant marine the report says: "There is no longer any reason why we should be dependent on the auxiliary navies of European powers for our ocean mail service. The establishment of a com- plete American ocean mail service to Europe, Asia (including the Philip- pines), South America and Australia similar to the national mail services of Great Britain, Germany and France to the United States, Asia, Africa and Australia, will in itself fur- nish the backbone for an American system of communication by sea. If we are at an early day to become a maritime power, such mail lines alone will not suffice.

"Our power to produce has grown so fast beyond our power to consume that the problem of improved trans- portation facilities to foreign mar- kets is of greater importance to the island producing states of the Union than to the seaboard commercial cities. The solution of the problem may contribute not only to the gen- eral wealth of the United States, but also to its development in new direc- tions. We build few ships for foreign trade; it is desirable that we should build many. The obstacles are the relative cost of building ships here and in Great Britain, which in time will be overcome, and the relative pay of crews on American and on foreign ships. Navigation bounties in the United States are justifiable only by present conditions, by the cer- tainty that they will not long be re- quired, by the fact that they need not in any year exceed the total cost of a couple of battleships, and by the fact, conceded by our maritime rivals, that they will produce the results we desire. In legislation upon the subject it is recommended that con- gress shall keep in view the fact that the expedient is temporary, and that prompt results are desired."

SUPPRESSION OF ANARCHISTS.

Resolutions Introduced in the Senate.
Canal Commission Report.
Hay-Pauncefote Treaty.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Practically the entire time of the senate was de- voted to the introduction of bills and resolutions. Two of these measures, relating to the suppression of an- archy and the dealing with anarchists, were allowed to allow on the table so that their authors, Mr. McComas, of Maryland, and Mr. Vest, of Mis- sissippi, may bring them to the early attention of the senate. The Irish- man canal report was transmitted to the senate by the president and sev- eral bills providing for the construc- tion of the water way, one of them by Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, who has led the movement for the canal in the past, were presented.

The majority favor of the canal commission favor the Nicaragua route. One member made a minor- ity report in favor of the Panama route.

CROPLEY STILL UNDER A BAN.

His Apology Has Not Been Followed
by Withdrawal of the Injun-tion Petition.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Notwithstanding the fact that Father Jeremiah J. Crowley has apologized to Cardinal Martinelli for anything that may have been unseemly in his conduct as a Catholic priest, he will not be allowed to worship for some time in the ca- thedral of the Holy Name.

Yesterday, when injunction proceed- ings to prevent his entering the ca- thedral were called up in Judge Tu- ley's court, it was expected that the case against Father Crowley would be dismissed at the request of the church. Neither Father Crowley nor his representative was present and Attorney T. A. Moran said that Arch- bishop Feehan had not instructed him to withdraw the petition for injunc- tion. The court continued the case indefinitely, but stipulated that the deposed priest was still under his oath not to worship in this parish.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Senator John L. McLaurin, of South Carolina, has been read out of the Democratic party. It has been decided by the party lead- ers that he shall not be invited to take part in the Democratic caucus and that the Republicans will have to pro- vide him with committee assignments.

How to Prevent Croup.

It will be good news to the mothers of small children to learn that croup can be prevented. The first sign of the disease is hoarseness. A day or two before the attack the child becomes hoarse. This is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. Give Chamber- lain's Cough Remedy freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the cough appears, and it will dis- pel all symptoms of croup. In this way all danger and anxiety may be avoided. That remedy is used in this way by many thousands of mothers, and has never been known to fail. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon, and that is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

One of the queer sights of Brooklyn. "Speaking of queer things that hap- pen in Brooklyn," said a member of the finance department, "a few nights ago I was going out on a late train on the Fifth avenue elevated road. There were few passengers in the car. Sit- ting opposite me was a demure looking Brooklynite with a large bundle under each arm. The bundles were closely wrapped with newspapers.

"Suddenly a violent internal move- ment agitated the bundle under the man's left arm, and a moment later the head of a large game rooster broke through the paper. As soon as the roos- ter's head was clear he crowed loud and defiantly. Then the bundle under the other arm heaved and struggled, another beak and comb appeared, and the crowd of defiance was promptly an- swered by one of challenge.

"Then for five minutes those two roosters crowed at 30 seconds' inter- vals, while their owner struggled des- perately to get them back into the wrappings where he had thought them effectually concealed. He indignantly refused the request of the other pas- sengers to put them on the floor of the car and let them fight it out."—New York Sun.

The Cleveland Leader, speaking of Representative Taylor's effort to secure a constitutional amendment to secure uniformity of marriage and divorce laws, says that Mr. Taylor is on the right track and adds: "It is a formidable task for any man to set himself, because such movements have to overcome a tremendous weight of inertia. The case of uniform laws governing marriage and divorce is too clear to require much argument, but the trouble is to arouse the public and congress enough to cure the evils caused by the mixed and conflicting legislation of the states. In a country like the United States people move about too freely from one state to another to permit satisfactory state control of such fundamental matters, affecting the entire structure of society, as marriage and divorce." It is certainly unjust, as well as manifest absurdity, that a man who is legally married, according to the laws of one state, should find himself a lawbreaker in another state. This is a state of affairs that prevails today, and it is one calling loudly for a remedy.

It is often asserted that the newspapers print too much about crimes. But they recount crimes only to hold them up to public execration. They frequently do excellent missionary work in exposing dark deeds and putting a stop to them. Aside from this, it will be generally admitted that every reputable newspaper is quite as ready and eager to recount good deeds as it is to tell of evil ones. The journals are powerful allies of church workers and of all classes of reformers. They are not perfect, but they are accused of many things of which they are wholly guiltless.

A western professor, who professed to have discovered the secret of extracting enough gold from common dirt to enrich everybody who knew the process, is dead, and his secret is found to have been worthless. The old method of getting gold by earning it will continue to be pursued by those who are wise and honest.

It is now contrary to an ordinance of the city of Columbus to spit upon the sidewalk. Spitting in street cars has long been forbidden. Such ordinances are needed and should be enforced in every city. It is said to be difficult to teach hogs anything, but stiff fines usually carry lessons not quickly forgotten.

As long as the people of the United States almost unanimously approve the position the president's message takes on leading public questions, a little foreign criticism is not calculated to disturb the people here. The message was not written for foreigners. It is intensely American and thoroughly patriotic.

Canadians who are talking about increasing duties on articles imported from the United States will probably think twice about the matter. Canada does not want to cause a wholesale exodus to the southward of its small population.

President Roosevelt is steadily disappointing the expectations of his detractors who have been picturing him as a human volcano. Reasonable men must admit that he is conservative as well as strong.

Crime is rampant in Cleveland and Toledo, if the newspapers of that city are to be believed. Yet both have

"reform" administrations. Reformers who parade with brass bands need to be watched.

The close of the navigation season on the great lakes brings out statistics showing that in all the history of the world's commerce there is nothing comparable to the growth of the lake traffic.

Over half a million aliens landed in the United States last year. The immigration laws are too lax to warrant the prediction that all of them will make good Americans.

Almost a month has elapsed and nobody has proposed a new cross-county electric railroad. Plainly the projectors are not attending to business as well as formerly.

Digging potatoes is almost as profitable as digging gold in Alaska. Two men raised 25,000 bushels of Dya this year and sold them for $2 a bushel.

Uncle Sam has never yet missed it in a real estate speculation, and he will probably come out ahead if he purchases the Danish West India islands.

The Kansas man, who was addicted to the habit of sleeping months at a time, is dead. Perhaps Philadelphians will take warning and try to reform.

Colonel Bryan is likely to lose the little popularity he has left if he keeps on trying to act as adviser-in-chief to the Democratic party.

Boss Croker announces that he will retire from politics. Possibly he is one of the few who knows when he has had enough.

Somebody, evidently not his friend has confided to David B. Hill the Herculean task of reorganizing the Democratic party.

Germany can't be blamed for envying Americans their prosperity. Half a million Germans are reported unemployed.

The canal project will help to solve the question what to do with the surplus.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Margaret Devine.

Mrs. Margaret Devine, 87 years of age, the oldest member of St. Paul's Cathedral church, Pittsburg, died at 1821 Bedford avenue, in that city, yesterday. For 14 years, owing to the result of an accident, she had occupied an invalid's chair. She was born in Ireland, and married Thomas Patterson, who helped lay the foundation for St. Paul's cathedral. She is survived by seven children, one of whom is D. A. Devine, of this city. The funeral takes place Saturday morning.

Interment will be made in the family lot of the Mt. Olive cemetery.

MISS STONE ALIVE.

Consul Dickinson Has Received a Report by Special Messenger From the Women Held in Captivity.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Consul General Dickinson cabled the department yesterday from Constantinople that he had just received a report by special messenger that Miss Stone and Mme. Tsilka are still held by the brigands in the woods of Gultipe, Bulgaria.

Constantinople, Dec. 5.—The recent silence of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the captive American missionary, is largely attributed to the unusually heavy snows. A minute investigation of the Ellidreth valley, where the captives are reported to have been buried, has nearly been completed, but fails to show that Miss Stone and her companion, Madame Tsilka, were ever in that district.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS

Ethan Thomas, ex-burgess of New Brighton, is in town today.

Mrs. Calvin Gaston, of this city, is home from a visit to Toronto.

POTTERY NEWS

Brick masons have been making good progress the past few days on the extensive addition to the Laughlin pottery No. 2, the second and final story wall is now in place. The six biscuit kilns have been topped out and the six glost kilns will soon have reached the same stage of completion.

The second kiln that is being constructed at the Electric Porcelain works is almost finished and will be ready in another week for the lining.

AT THE THEATER

Frank Keenan, who is starring this season as Hon. John Grigsby in Chas. Klein's play of that name, has won his place as a legitimate star by years of steady and often difficult climbing on the theatrical ladder. He began this career when a boy, in the Boston theaters, and played there in support of nearly all of the old stars. Since then he has acted in almost every line of plays from Shakespearean tragedies to modern farces. He has every trick of stage management at his fingers' ends as was evidenced by the perfection of the New York production of "The Christian" which he directed. In "Hon. John Grigsby" he displays not only his splendid accomplishments in acting, but also his genius in stage craft. It is one of the most perfectly mounted productions on the road this season. He will be the attraction at the opera house Jan. 7, when the Elks give their annual benefit.

"Eight Bells" will be presented at the opera house next Monday night. There is no villain in Byrne Brothers' rejuvenated "Eight Bells," but there is plenty of fun, trick scenery, good music and clever specialties. The piece has been seen here so often that little need be said in praise of its many excellent features. All former successes in the way of trick effects are retained and many new things added. It still presents the great revolving ship scene, the trick wagon the hustling octopus, the weird trunk, doors and chairs, and numerous new features. Incidentally a number of new specialties are introduced.

A large and enthused audience cheered Daniel Ryan and his company last night at the Grand, when the powerful drama, "The Grip of Steel," was produced. The play, which is one of the strongest of the company's repertoire, was very creditably presented, the work of Mr. Ryan in the leading role being especially fine. Miss Ella Boyer also acquitted herself with great credit. The specialties were also very good.

11-YEAR-OLD BOY MURDERS.

Stabbed an Eight-Year-Old Schoolmate and Death Resulted.

Cincinnati, Dec. 5.—The shocking scene of a schoolboy, 8 years old, stabbed to death by a schoolmate, aged 11, was witnessed on the streets of Newport, Ky. Joseph Creelman was stabbed by Eddie Armines and died in about 15 minutes. Armines went to the fire engine house, where his uncle is captain, and threw the knife into an outhouse, but said nothing about the murder until the news of the lad's death. His uncle then promptly surrendered him to the police, to whom the boy told his story of the crime:

"Creelman missed his reading lesson and was sent to the foot of the class. The teacher made him sit at the blackboard, and I laughed at him. When school was out he cursed me. I started for the engine house, and Plummer threw a brick at me, and Creelman ran up and grabbed me by the arms. I did not think the brick was thrown at me until it hit me on the hand. Then I stuck the knife out easy and heard his coat rip."

Both boys belong to excellent families. Fancy cigars in small packages is an appropriate Christmas gift for ladies to buy at Anderson's. 146-1

MUCH AFFLICTED

J. E. WILKINSON RECOVERING FROM STRANGE AILMENT.

The Engineer Whose Case Surprised Doctors Is Now Visiting Home.

Joseph Edwin Wilkinson is home from Pittsburg, where he has been confined to the Homeopathic hospital since October 12. Mr. Wilkinson, although always a man of more than ordinary ability, ushered himself into notice among medical men when he was for a short time stricken with total paralysis and managed to survive.

At his home on Nevada street in the West End he hovered between life and death for several days and finally became well enough to be removed to the Pittsburg hospital. When he arrived there he had recovered from body paralysis and was only suffering with his back. His vocal chords were entirely useless and he could not utter a word or make a sound.

The hospital physician, Dr. Rinehart, worked arduously with him and now Mr. Wilkinson is able to articulate, but in an extremely uncertain manner. He is now on a visit to his wife and will return to Pittsburg in a few weeks.

Mr. Wilkinson is often spoken of as "the inventor," having invented several mechanical devices, the last of which is a wrench. He is by trade an engineer, but has followed different callings, being a school teacher for several years and storekeeper in the C. & P. shops for some time.

TO BETTER FRONT STREET

Plans Formulated to Improve And Beautify That Thoroughfare.

City Engineer Leith has taken a survey and made plans for the improvement of Front street from the depot down to Ninth street. The city council will take action on it at their next meeting, which will be on the evening of Dec. 12.

The proposed improvement will meet with the hearty approval of every citizen who has the interest of Wellsville at heart. According to the plans the street is to be paved a width of 20 feet and a curbing set. The C. & P. Railroad company have formally agreed to improve from the curb to their retaining wall and to sod the intervening space and plant lawn trees and flower gardens. If this is done Front street will beyond a doubt be the prettiest thoroughfare in the city.

WELLSVILLE WON

Again Victorious in a Bowling Contest With East Liverpool Players.

A crowd of East Liverpool bowlers put in their appearance at Campbell's alleys last night and after a few hours practicing consented to bowl one game with Captain Shingler's team. The Wellsville boys were again the victors, but there was never before a match game bowled that equalled it for splits and low scores. The visitors would not give a date for another contest. The lineup with scores follows:

East Liverpool—Armour, 156; Silcott, 149; McConnell, 110; Lewis, 142; Hoopes, 113; Farrell, 138; total, 808.

Wellsville—Harshey, 136; Hall, 155; Dennis, 117; Karr, 158; Evans, 93; Shingler, 182; total, 841.

Portuguese Hotel Clocks.

It is the fashion for Portuguese clocks to strike the hour twice over. Heaven only knows why, for certainly the people are not so keen about the profitable use of their time that they require to be reminded thus of its flight. The habit is apt to be irritating, especially in the night, when your bed, like enough a straw mattress and a brass pillow, chances to be near one of these monsters which dings its four and twenty strokes at midnight, with a pause between the dozens which merely stimulates expectation. If there are five clocks in the establishment, all with sonorous works—and the supposition is reasonable—they will, of course, differ widely, so that twenty-four may be striking, with intervals, during a maddening half hour.

You may happen to want to know badly which one of the monsters is the least mendacious, and the bells at your bed head communicate with two servants, one a Gallego and the other a Portuguese. In such a case ring for the despised stranger without hesitation. He will be with you in a minute, fresh and smiling, though half naked, and if he distrusts his own judgment about the clocks he will not mind saying so and hasten to awaken the landlord himself rather than that you should remain in doubt.

I regret to add that his more conceited fellow servant will more probably say whatever first comes to his tongue, more heedful of his own comfort than of your desires.—Chambers' Journal.

The Last Gladiatorial Combat.

Gladiatorial games were prohibited by an edict of the Emperor Constantine in A. D. 325, but from some cause, probably the loudly expressed disapprobation of the people, the edict was allowed to fall into disuse, and its penalties were never visited on its violators. During the reign of Honorius the defeat of the Goths in Italy was celebrated by games, but in the midst of the fights in the amphitheater of Vespasian a monk named Telemachus found his way into the arena and parted the combatants with a large professional cross.

The populace swarmed over the barricades and tore the monk to pieces, but the moral effect of the heroic act was permanent, and in A. D. 404 an imperial edict abolished gladiatorial sports in the Coliseum and shortly after throughout the Roman empire. The fight stopped by Telemachus was the last in the Coliseum, and that structure is now consecrated to the honor of Telemachus and the Christian martyrs who perished in the persecutions by Nero and other emperors.

Two Cruel Punishments.

The gantlope, or gantlet, was military and naval punishment for theft. A man had to run the gantlet of a long file of his fellow soldiers, each provided with a switch, and to prevent the sinner going too rapidly and to see that no man, impelled by motives of friendliness or kindness, failed to strike hard, a sergeant walked backward, facing the said sinner, with a halberd pointed at the latter's breast.

After a lengthy experiment this was found to be inconvenient and degrading, so recourse was had to another method, a variety of the same species of torture. The offender was tied to four halberds, three in a triangle and a fourth across. The regiment or company then filed off, the cat-o'-nine-tails was placed in the hands of the first man, who gave the culprit a lash and passed on, handing the cat to the second, who also gave a lash, and so the game went merrily on until the offense had been expiated.—London Graphic.

Cats.

There are two curious things about cats that are not generally known. Yellow hairs, however few in number, always indicate the female. No male ever had the slightest tint of yellow. That is one curiosity, and the other is that a blue eyed cat is always deaf. To be sure, blue eyed cats are scarce, and it is possible that some deaf cats may not be blue eyed; but wherever you find a blue eyed cat that feline is absolutely incapable of hearing thunder.

Beat Us on Time.

"Oh, come now, I s'y!" exclaimed the Britisher. "You must admit we're ahead of you in a grite many w'ys." "In one great particular I admit you are," said the Yankee. "And that is?" "Time. It's 8 o'clock in London, and it's only 3 here."—Philadelphia Record.

Bees of Fine Discrimination.

Morelia has some other odd things—for example, the sweetmeat stands under the portales or arcades, where friendly bees and wasps devoured the candies and were not scared off. I asked an old woman sitting behind a large stand loaded with candied fruit, dulces of all sorts, sugar plums and molasses candy:

"Won't these bees sting a fellow?" "Oh, no, senor; don't be afraid. They are very intelligent and can tell a customer right off."

"But would they sting a thief, for instance?" "Certainly, senor. They are very intelligent. Poor things! They do no harm and are much company. They must live!"

I watched these winged insects, with all their panoply of war ready, and was fascinated. Then I asked another question:

"But would not a Morelian bee sting a Yankee?" "Not if he were a customer, caballero!"—Mexican Cor. Boston Herald.

A FIGHTING GOVERNOR.

Minnesota's Executive, Who Wants to Smash Railroad Combine.

Few fights against combines have aroused more interest in this country than the one now on in the northwestern states in opposition to the consolidation of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern and Burlington railroads. Governor Samuel R. Van Sant of Minnesota, who is leading the battle against the roads, says he has the support of a number of other governors. The affair promises to be fought to a finish and will be a bitter one while it lasts.

Governor Van Sant has an interesting career. He enlisted under President Lincoln's first call for 75,000 men, but was rejected on account of his age.

GOVERNOR S. R. VAN SANT.

being not quite seventeen. Again he tried and was rejected, but finally was accepted as a member of Company A, Ninth Illinois. Before he was allowed to go to war, however, he had to have a written permit from his father.

The governor was a great favorite not only in his own company, but throughout the regiment, and was in the thick of many famous battles. After the war he studied in New York city for some time and then went to Galesburg and graduated from Knox college. Soon after his graduation he went into business with his father at Leclaire, Ia., and they built one of the first raft steamers on the Mississippi.

For a number of years Governor Van Sant was general manager of the Van Sant & Musser line of steamboats. He went to Winona, Minn., in 1883 and was closely identified with the city's best interests and actively assisted in all public enterprises. For two years he was in the council as alderman and was the unanimous nominee of the Republicans for the office of mayor of Winona in 1888. Later he was sent to the state legislature and in 1895 was speaker of the lower house. This is his first term as governor.

Cured.

The following is a Chinese joke: In a certain house there was a baby that annoyed every one by its continual squalling. At last a physician was called in. He administered a bolus of the soothing virtues of which he had a high opinion and offered to pass the night in the house to observe the effects of his remedy. After a few hours, hearing no noise, he exclaimed: "Good! The child is cured!" "Yes," replied the attendant, "the child has indeed stopped crying, but the mother has begun to mourn."

WOES OF A PRINCESS.

Marital Troubles of the Grand Duchess of Hesse.

The Grand Duchess of Hesse, whose marital troubles are furnishing a good deal of gossip in the German capital just now, is a granddaughter of the late queen of England, who, with the czar and an extraordinary assemblage of other sovereigns, was present at her wedding at Coburg seven years ago.

While perhaps not "one of the most beautiful princesses of Europe," she is a high spirited, athletic woman, of whom the German emperor said that in her a splendid soldier was spoiled to make a very ordinary princess. She is a clever horsewoman, takes a deep interest in military affairs, plays golf and tennis and is an enthusiastic hunter and a crack shot.

The Grand Duke of Hesse is also a grandchild of Queen Victoria and was twenty-six when he married the duchess, she being but eighteen and the youngest married princess in Europe at that time. About a year after their marriage the clash came and was caused by a prank.

During a ball at Darmstadt, Hesse, the duke and other nobles caused the lights to be suddenly extinguished and then amused themselves by catching and kissing the women and squirting water over their necks and arms. The grand duchess immediately left the boisterous princeling and went to stay with her elder sister, the crown princess of Roumania, declaring she would never return to him again. The quarrel was eventually patched up by Queen Victoria, who managed to restore a semblance of peace, but that soon disappeared.

Fleeing De Maupassant.

It is said that the Norman peasants hit upon a happy scheme of fleeing Guy de Maupassant, who once maintained near his home at Etretat a rabbit warren of a few acres. They used to plant choice vegetables and rare shrubs in the adjoining fields, and every year De Maupassant had to pay for the damage done by his rabbits. After a few years he got tired of this sort of thing. He computed that the few rabbits he shot cost him about $20 apiece, which was rather too much even for an enthusiastic sportsman to pay; so he determined to destroy his game preserve. There were only four or five burrows in the inclosure, and a few ferrets soon dislodged all the inhabitants.

One night after the rabbits had been destroyed the gilder happened to visit his former preserve and detected a man skulking along under the trees, with a large bag slung over his shoulder. De Maupassant supposed that the man had come to steal wood and challenged him. The supposed thief took to his heels, leaving behind him his bag, which was found to be filled with rabbits of both sexes. The man was an honest neighbor, who, shrewdly reasoning that there could be no damages if there were no rabbits, had thought it advisable to restock the warren himself.

A man's labors must pass like the sunrises and sunsets of the world. The next thing, not the last, must be his care.

Why is it that gloves worn by pallbearers are always too long in the fingers?—Athenian Globe.

Spiders' Webs.

The webs of those spiders which spin snares out of doors, as the geometrical garden spider, are formed of two sorts of silk, one of which is used for the main cables and the radiating threads, the other for the concentric threads. The latter are thickly studded with minute globules of a viscous substance, which retains the fly, gnat or moth that may blunder against them, while the former are quite dry and harmless. A third kind of silk is produced by the busy little spinner when some such large insect as a wasp has become entangled in the web and threatens to break the delicate structure in its struggles. This takes the form of an enveloping mass, which is suddenly produced and which effectually prevents any further gyrations on the part of the captured insect.—Cornhill Magazine.

A Giant Tree.

Near Dakar, in lower Senegal, is an enormous baobab tree whose trunk measures fully seventy-five feet in circumference at the base. The fruit of the baobab, which grows abundantly in Senegal, is called "monkey bread." It is used by the natives for curdling milk and as a specific for certain diseases. Decoctions of the dried leaves are also used as medicine. From the bark strong cords are made, and the gum that exudes from it is employed as a salve. The root of the young baobab is sometimes eaten by the natives.

The Tammany Tiger.

The origin of the tiger as an emblem of Tammany is said to date from the time when William M. Tweed, then foreman of "Big Six" Fire company, took a fancy to a picture of a royal Bengal tiger in the fifties. Tweed adopted the emblem for the American club, and it soon was accepted by all Tammany.

REVISION OF CREED.

Diversity of Opinion Among Members of Presbyterian Committee.

ONE PARAGRAPH AGREED UPON

In the Statement of Faith to Be Prepared—Members to Call on President Today—Ex-Secretary of State
Foster to Give a Reception.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The wide diversity of views of leaders of the Presbyterian church on the subject of revision of the creed was demonstrated when the committee of 20 appointed by the general assembly to effect this work and submit it to the next assembly began its labors here.
It was found that none of the members of any sub-committee or section had united upon any report or statement and had progressed no further than the expression of individual views. The general committee decided to transact its work in full committee instead of using the further services of these sub-committees. The committee held several meetings during yesterday, all the proceedings being in executive session.

The following attended. The Rev.
Drs. H. C. Minton, San Francisco;
Herrick Johnson, Chicago; D. W.
Fisher, Hanover, Ind.; William Mc-Kibbin, Cincinnati; George B. Stewart, Auburn, N. Y.; S. P. Sprecher, Cleveland; D. W. Moffat, Fort Wayne,
Ind.; John Dewitt, Princeton, N. J.; J. Goss Stevenson, Chicago; S. B.
McCormick, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and the following lay members: Associate Justice Harlan, of the United States supreme court; ex-Secretary of State John W. Foster, Hon. D. R.
Noyes, St. Paul, Minn.; Judge E. W.
Humphrey, Louisville, Ky.; Elisha Fraser, Detroit; Charles T. Thompson, Minneapolis; and Dr. W. K.
Crabbe, Pittsburg.

The following members are expected here by today: Rev. Drs. Charles A. Dicke, Philadelphia; S. J. Nichols,
St. Louis; Henry Vanduyke, Princeton,
and John E. Parsons, New York.

Worked on Statement of Doctrine.

The full committee began yesterday afternoon the work of framing the brief statement of doctrine. The present long creed of the church will be considered article by article. The statement will comprise about 1,000 words and it is stated will be couched
in language so simple and meaning so clear as to be easily understood by all lay members, constituting practically a popular summary of the formal creed itself. The members of the committee will call on President Roosevelt today and will be given a reception on Dec. 16, in Baltimore, b.
the Presbyterian Union, of that city.
They also will be given a reception
next Friday evening by ex-Secretary of State Foster and a dinner Saturday night by the Men's Society of the Church of the Covenant, of this city.

At the afternoon session of the committee work was begun on the preparation of the proposed statement of the doctrine for popular use. The committee's views are that this statement should be composed of about 20 paragraphs, and when the session had concluded for the day only one of these paragraphs had been agreed upon. The members are giving the closest attention to this matter and are considering every step thoroughly
before finally passing upon each paragraph. It was said last night that after the conclusion of the work of the committee at Washington the statements agreed upon would be printed and would be again considered by the committee at a meeting to be held some time in the spring
before the gathering of the general assembly, thus giving the members of the revision committee opportunity to again pass upon their work before it shall be submitted to the governing body of the church.

Evangelical Alliance Met.

Philadelphia, Dec. 5.—The sessions of the Evangelical Alliance yesterday were devoted principally to discussions of the liquor traffic and a shorter working day.

Interdenominational sympathy formed
the subject of an address delivered
during the morning by Benjamin G.
Welch, of Eagleboro. His discourse on "Interdenominational Affiliation"

expressed the prevailing feeling among the ministers and laymen constituting the alliance.

The Rev. Charles Wood, D. D., of this city, was the chief speaker. His topic, "Practical Methods of Dealing With the Liquor Traffic," was handled in a vigorous manner. The subject in all its complex phases was ably treated, while legislative and ministerial aid in suppressing the sale of intoxicants was urged. A 15-minute discussion followed Dr. Wood's paper.

The speakers of the afternoon session were the Rev. I. J. Lansing, D.
D., of Scranton, to whom was assigned the topic of "The Shorter Working Day—How Its Reduction Has Worked," and the Rev. Wallace MacMillen, D. D., of this city, whose subject, "Is the Commercial Development of the Age Detrimental to Our Highest Ideals?" was discussed under the leadership of the Rev. C. C. Culbertson, D. D., of Germantown.

SOME EXCEPTIONS IN RISE.

They Were Among the Very Prominent Stocks, on Wednesday.

Some Features.

New York, Dec. 5.—The stock market opened with a firm tone Wednesday gathered considerable strength during the course of the day. The rise did not embrace the entire list, however, and the exceptions to the strength were among the very prominent stocks. One stock or a group of stocks and then another were taken up and lifted in price. The dealings in these active stocks was on a very large scale, but the aggregate of the day's dealings indicates that the market was not very broad. The general sentiment among the speculative community was one of satisfaction over the contents of the president's message and over the tone of the comment upon the document in the press.
The recommendations of the secretary of the treasury looking to reform of the banking currency was also viewed with satisfaction in the financial district. The steadier tone of Amalgamated Copper removed an extremely disturbing influence and was a potent factor though a negative
one, in the strength of the market.
The trading continued to reflect hesitation while the course of this stock
continued erratic, but when the firm support at about Tuesday night's level was perceived the general tone of the market became decidedly more confident. The trading in Amalgamated Copper was still on a very large scale. The stock nearly touched the low record established Tuesday for a moment during the morning, but rallied strongly during the latter part of the day and closed with a net gain of 2½. The renewed break in the London copper market was ignored.
The fact that no engagements of gold
were made for export today served to relieve some apprehension that the money supplies would grow stringent by drain to that quarter. The monthly statement of the money in circulation
in the country by the treasury department shows an increase of nearly $5,000,000 during November, in spite of the $18,000,000 of gold exports and a slight decrease in the national bank circulation. Anxiety over the money outlook was therefore not in evidence Wednesday, in spite of a deposit at the sub-treasury for transfer to New Orleans of $350,000. The most notable points of strength in the day's market were among the Gould stocks,
led by Manhattan, which rose an extreme 4½. This stock served as a leader also of the striking gains in the local traction group. New York Central was conspicuously strong, as was Pennsylvania. General Electric rose ¾. There were many gains of 1 to 2 points in the Southwesterns,
Grand Trunks, coalers and industrials.
Notwithstanding the satisfaction professed over the "trust" paragraphs of the president's message, the transcontinental stocks and United States
Steel were lagards in the advance;
Great Northern preferred lost ½ and Northwest 6½, with a rally of 3. The market closed slightly irregular, but near the top for many stocks.

Speculative bonds were strong, but there was irregularity in the general list. Total sales, par value, $2,765,- 000.

Peculiar Taxation in Holland.

Some of the most peculiar of tax-ations recorded are to be found in the archives of Holland. In 1791, for instance, there was in existence a tax imposed on all passengers traveling in Holland. In 1874 a duty of 2 shillings was levied on each person who entered a tavern before noon, on those who entered a place of entertainment, on marriages and deaths and on many other things. If a person was buried out of the district to which he belonged, the tax was payable twice over.—Pittsburg

How Uncle Sam

By Brigadier General JAMES H. WILSON, Ex-Governor of

radical measure. I contend that if adopted it cannot fail to develop

As my friend, Juan

Conchita, said to

"WITH FREE TRADE IN SUGAR AND TOBACCO CUBA

WOULD BE A DREAM. SHE WOULD INDEED BE A

CUP OF GOLD."

Of course, our domestic sugar and tobacco growers and perhaps

other protected interests will oppose it, but every laboring man, manufacturer and consumer of tropical products would profit by cheaper sugar, cigars and fruits and a wider market for our breadstuffs and manufactured products, and with all due deference I submit that under the doctrine of the greatest good to the greatest number the measure should prevail.

THE 'CUBANS CANNOT HOPE TO SURVIVE AND PROSPER

All Hands Smoking.

Tobacco is in Tehuantepec a great industry. One evening some of our party of sixteen were kindly given a night's shelter, Mexican fashion, at a hacienda or farmhouse. Hotels, except in the large towns, are unknown.

It was about 9 p. m. when we arrived.

Sitting on the wide veranda to receive us we beheld the entire family. On the right of the door was the lady of the house in a white cotton gown, smoking

a cigar. Below her were the daughters and handmaids, also smoking. On the other side of the door was the ranchero or master himself, with his sons and manservants. Every one was employed in rolling the tobacco leaf

into cigars, and every one was smoking, including a little boy not quite

three years old, who had a full sized cigar in his baby mouth, while in his left hand he held a banana from which he took bites between the puffs, occasionally stopping to play with a small puppy dog.

"Does he often smoke?" I asked in amazement.

"Si, senor. He smokes three or four cigars a day. All our children have done so at that age." Adaptability of temperament to climate!—Fortnightly

Passing a Bargain.

"Perhaps you've had a man offer you

a big bargain in a diamond ring?"

queried the Boston drummer as he heaved a sigh and his face went cloudy.

"Yes, several times," laughed the Pullman conductor.

"I was in Pittsburg," continued the drummer, "and while standing on a street corner a chap came along and offered me a shiner as big as a bean

for $50. He was a stranger, hard up and all that. It looked to be a ring worth $350."

"And you gave him $50?"

"No. He hung on for half an hour, but I turned him down. I'm no man to be roped in that way."

"Then what—what—"

"Oh, another fellow bought the ring."

"And he was out his fifty?"

"He was in $300. That ring, sir, was

O. K. and all serene, and a jeweler priced it at the figure named. The man was honest, and I was a fool, and you will please excuse me while I retire

and kick myself for not knowing a piece of glass from a pure water sparkler."

A Savage Bluejay.

A sportsman camping on one of the lakes of Sullivan county, N. Y., offered to bet $10 to $1 that nobody in his party

could guess how he had received an injury to a finger which he held bleeding before the spectators. No one guessed, and the man went on to explain that while standing by the lake he had seen a bluejay flying over so close above his head that he instinctively threw up his hand to stop it. The bird neither stopped nor swerved, but instead dashed straight for the hand,

striking it with such force that the bill

penetrated to the bone and sent the blood spurting as though the man had been struck by a knife.

This sort of action is in line with the general conduct of the jay. It is one of the most aggressive birds on the continent, robbing the nests of other birds

and sometimes even killing young squirrels. The chief good thing that can be said of it is that it often robs the nest

of the English sparrow.

GIGANTIC TRUST DEAL

Philadelphia Company Formally Absorbs Traction Lines, In and About Pittsburg.

LIGHT COMPANIES TAKEN IN.

Grand Total of Capital, $115,815,500.
It is believed a Better Car Service
Will Be Furnished—Some Details of the Deal.

Pittsburg, Dec. 5.—One of the greatest mergers in traction companies and underlying interests that has ever taken place in the country was formally approved in Pittsburg yesterday afternoon. Millions of dollars were represented in the transaction. At its completion less than 50 men who controlled the destinies of the Philadelphia company left the general offices of that corporation with satisfaction written all over their faces.

To traction men generally the action of bringing under one executive head the management of all the traction companies in Pittsburg and Allegheny has momentous interest. It is believed that Pittsburg will be benefited, as it will open the way for a more harmonious operation of the lines, and also for a better service, a more economical administration of the affairs, and, what is of some considerable importance, a less liability to delay and congestion of cars in the busy streets of the two cities.

FACTS AND FICTION

Experiences of East Liverpool Citizens
Are Easily Proven to Be Facts,
Outside Testimony Is Liable to Savor of Romance.

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of East Liverpool is true. Read it, and compare evidence from East Liverpool along with testimony from outside places, published side by side with this in the columns of this paper. Investigate still further and you will be surprised at the number of people in East Liverpool who re-echo what this citizen says:

Mrs. Carlina White, of 225 Railroad street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 70 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicines; my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed, and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of, I got a box at the W. & W. pharmacy. After using them for a short time I could plainly notice the good effect they were causing. I continued some time longer and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy and advise others to try them, feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

BARONESS HENGELMULLER.

side him at table. The matter greatly annoyed the late president and was explained by the Austrian minister on the ground that neither he nor his wife could hold any relations whatsoever with the representative of a government that has put to death his sovereign's brother, the ill-fated Emperor Maximilian.

Since then, however, friendly intercourse has been established between the Vienna court and the Mexican government, and it now becomes incumbent upon the baroness to call upon the Mexican ambassador, whose diplomatic status is superior to that of the Austrian minister's wife.

Only a woman can fully appreciate the feelings of the baroness as she pays the call demanded by diplomatic etiquette. She will go in her carriage, of course, perhaps accompanied by her

Birmingham to Be Leased.

Mr. Mellon has also agreed that the Pittsburg and Birmingham Traction company shall lease its lines to the United Traction company (a majority of the shares of which are owned by the Philadelphia company) for the term of 99 years from Jan. 1, 1902. This lease will provide for the payment of all expenses of operation and maintenance, taxes, rental obligations of the Pittsburg and Birmingham Traction company, and interest upon its bonds, for the payment of an annual rental of $150,000 during the term of the lease.

Mr. Mellon has also agreed that the Pittsburg and Charlevoix Street Railway company shall lease its lines to the United Traction company for the term of 99 years from Jan. 1, 1902. This lease will provide for the payment of all expenses of operation and maintenance, taxes and interest upon the bonds of said railway company (which bonds amount to $2,500,000), and a fixed annual rental of $35,000. The performance of these loans are guaranteed by the Philadelphia company.

Immediately upon the execution of this lease, Mr. Mellon agrees to sell all of the shares of stock of said street railway company to this company for the sum of $709,000. Mr. Mellon also agrees to transfer to this company without further compensation the shares of stock of a number of street railway companies organized by him, the construction of whose railways has not been commenced.

The owners of almost the entire capital stock of the Southern Traction company have agreed to sell their shares to this company upon the basis of one preferred share and one common share of the Southern Traction company for one common share of this company.

Additional companies taken in were as follows:

The Suburban Traction company, capital $800,000, bonded indebtedness, $200,000, which was recommended on a 5 per cent lease basis; the East McKeesport Street Railway company; the Southern Heat, Light and Power company, operating in the vicinity of McKees Rocks, and the Tustin street

DIPLOMATIC ETIQUETTE.

It Places a Baroness in a Very Unpleasant Position.

The Baroness Hengelmüller, wife of the Austrian minister, who has just returned to Washington for the winter, finds herself in rather an unpleasant position. At a state dinner at the White House last spring she created a sensation by refusing to accept the arm of the Mexican ambassador, who had been assigned to her as escort, or to sit be-husband as far as the curb, and her card will be received with all due ceremony. It is when she enters the drawing room that she will either be politely snubbed or as warmly welcomed as etiquette permits. She will live through it, however, and will have many opportunities to repay in kind.

Baroness Hengelmüller is said to be the most beautiful woman in the diplomatic corps in Washington. She was the first society woman in the capital to drive her own automobile and owns five of these machines, all of different styles, which she can operate in the most expert manner.

ARTIST AND ACTOR.

Phil May to Be Seen Again Before the Footlights.

While the announcement that Phil May, the famous artist, was soon to return to the dramatic stage interested the large number of admirers of his work in this country, the word "return" in the statement mystified them a good deal, for few in the United States knew that he ever appeared before the footlights.

It was in 1864 that Mr. May, then a boy, started out to carve for himself an indelible name with his pencil, and he finally secured a position as helper to the scene painter at the Lyceum theater in Leeds. When there was little painting to be done, the artist was called upon to do duty as a super, and so well did he like the work that he bribed the manager with sketches for theater bills to allow him an occasional speaking part.

The audiences failed to appreciate Mr. May's great acting, however, and, finding that as a "draw" he was better with the pencil, he took it up again and with such success that he forgot all about the footlights until recently.

Phil May succeeded Du Maurier as caricaturist of London Punch, and his pictures have made the whole world laugh. He particularly excels in the portrayal of low life, and his street gamins and 'Arrys and 'Arriets never miss being amusing.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Now that the football season is over anxious fathers and mothers may disperse the careworn expression which has adorned their countenances from the time gridiron play began in October.

A retrospect of the season shows that few teams lived up to expectations. Princeton followers considered this year's eleven a world beater. Yale's victory over the Jersey men came as a crushing blow, and the none too creditable showing of the Tigers against Cornell and West Point appears all the blacker when the season's work as a whole is considered. Yale and Harvard undoubtedly produced the best teams. Their work has been consistent from the start, although the blue's game with Columbia was somewhat of a setback to the New Haven eleven. Columbia's showing after the Yale game was not so good as was expected, and it was a cause for wonderment that the New Yorkers were able to score on old Eli.

The Yale-Harvard game at Cambridge was undoubtedly the greatest battle of the season. Harvard's unexpected strength caused Yale to wonder why the crimson men had not been considered at their true value. Before the contest there was not a player on the entire New Haven eleven that did not conscientiously believe Harvard to be entirely outclassed.

As champions of 1901 the Harvard men are the strongest aggregation produced at Cambridge for many years. Unlimited praise is due Head Coach Bill Reid and Captain Dave Campbell for their wonderful work in developing world beating pigskin chasers from material originally considered inferior to both Yale and Princeton.

The University of Pennsylvania played far below the standard set in former years. Coach Woodruff seemed unable to place his hands on enough good material to fill out the eleven acceptably. The poor work of the Quakers, however, should not militate against Woodruff, for the best coaches cannot make a weak aggregation of players put up a strong game. Cornell had plenty of beef in her line and was able to make a strong fight for honors. The Ithacans hoped to duplicate last year's victory over Princeton, and the loss of the contest by two points clearly took some of the heart out of the men. The signal victory over Columbia was a source of much consolation to Cornell, and her showing against Pennsylvania was such as to convince Warner's men that they had not played in vain.

Western teams played before some of the biggest and most enthusiastic crowds that ever assembled to witness their contests. The University of Michigan began with a rush and maintained its splendid work to the last. Illinois, Minnesota and Kansas universities also finished with credit. The former's defeat of Iowa by the score of 27 to 0 was a striking reversal of conditions in 1899, when Iowa won the annual struggle by the score of 58 to 0. Kansas retained the championship of the Western Intercollegiate Football association. The victory over Nebraska clinched the title.

One of the features of the season was the showing of various athletic club teams. The well known Orange (N. J.) Athletic club lined up against Yale, Princeton, Lafayette and other strong organizations and performed creditably. Manager Carl Schwinn arranged an extremely difficult schedule for the eleven, but the men did not quail at the task set before them. Captain Louis Mohor of the Athletics is one of the best centers in harness. His work compares favorably with the cracks of the intercollegiate world. He has captained the team for several years.

Safe Occupation.

Bridget, the pretty young maid of all work employed in a Boston family, confided to her mistress when taking service that she had lately become engaged to be married. She stated, however, that she and Tim would have to wait two years, and in the meantime she wished to be earning money.

When Tim made his first call one evening, the family remarked that they had never known so quiet a man. The sound of Bridget's voice rose now and then from the kitchen, but Tim's words were apparently few and far between. "Tim is not much of a talker, is he, Bridget?" said the mistress of the house the next morning. "I should scarcely have known there was any one with you last evening."

"He'll talk more when we've been engaged a while longer, I'm thinking, ma'am," said little Bridget. "He's too bashful yet to do anything but eat, ma'am, when he's wid me!"—Youth's Companion.

A Costly Funeral.

The most costly state funeral which has ever taken place was perhaps that of Alexander the Great. A round million was spent in laying Alexander to his rest. The body was placed in a coffin of gold, filled with costly aromatics, and a diadem was placed on the head. The funeral car was embellished with ornaments of pure gold, and its weight was so great that it took 84 mules more than a year to convey it from Babylon to Syria.

A MUSICAL TREAT

The music-loving people of East Liverpool were given a treat last night, the occasion being the initial concert given by members of Victor Herbert's Pittsburgh orchestra at Turner hall. About 500 tickets were sold and a return date is likely to be made some time in the spring. The program as carried out follows:
